JAPANESE SPURN AMERICAN CLAIM TO ISLAND OF YAP

Note Makes Clear Determination of Nipponese to Cling to Awarded Mandate.

rade and commerce of other members of the league.

"The island of Yap, having been previously cited as a special case or particular future consideration, was not intended to be included among the certain islands designated as available to Japan under mandate."

The Japanese reply of February 6 said:

"In the meetings referred to (in the American note) it must be noted that the imperial delegates were not present at the meetings of the Supreme Council on April 1, May 6 and May 7, and in consequence the imperial government has no means of ascertaining what views were expressed by the American delegates at those meetings."

Wilson did in fact give utterance to such views as are ascribed to him, this cannot warrant the United States government in going beyond asserting as a fact that President Wilson or Secretary Lansing gave it as his opinion that the island of Yap should be internationalized or that it should not pass into the hands of any one power.

"It is further advanced in the note under reply that if Yap was meant to be included among the islands assigned under the mandate to Japan then the decision should have been drafted in more specific language than is the case. To assert that the fact of non-exclusion mentioned in a decision of this kind could only be regarded as an extraordinary and even an unreasonable contention, with which no one would be likely to concur."

"In order to maintain successfully, therefore, that the island of Yap is not included in the mandate territories assigned to Japan, the imperial government considers it necessary for the American government to prove not merely the fact that the particular line of views was stated at the meetings, but also that the meeting decided in favor of those views."

"This conclusion is the more irrefragable, the more the imperial government cannot agree in giving an extraordinary and unusual interpretation to the decision on the vague ground that certain thoughts and intentions not expressed in the text thereof existed in the mind of the delegate of one power only."

"On the strength of Article 3 of the mandate, covering the ex-German islands in the Pacific north of the equator—it is contended in the note under reply that no definite agreement had yet been reached as to the final disposition of the ex-German islands in the Pacific north of the equator."

CONCLUSIONS ARE HELD AT VARIANCE WITH FACTS

"The American contention is upheld. It must needs follow that all mandatory territories are liable to be honeycombed by exceptions and exclusions. But such a conclusion is wholly at variance with

Nippon Leaders Propose Defying U. S. On Mandates

(By Associated Press)

TOKYO, April 18.—A sharp division of opinion in governmental circles as to what attitude should be adopted by the Japanese government on mandates is reported by observers, an influential group, it is said, insisting that Japan should maintain her stand on the award made by the supreme council.

The "Jiji Shimpo" expresses the opinion Japan will reply negatively. Professor Utsunomiya of the Imperial University, in an article, declares that should Japan be forced to comply with the American demand it would be the greatest national disgrace since the return of the Liaotung peninsula to China.

Information from official quarters is that Japan is still consulting with the allies.

facts and cannot be thought by anyone to be convincing. Consequently, the reference to it in the present document tends, in the opinion of the imperial government, in no way to strengthen the contentions of the United States.

With reference to the open door policy Japan said:

"The imperial government would draw attention to the extract of the meeting with the commission on mandates held on July 8, 1919. Colonel Hughes opposed Viscount Chinda's claim that the same equal opportunities for commerce and trade should be guaranteed to territories belonging to the C class as those belonging to the B class."

"In view of the position thus taken by the American delegate, the imperial government feels obliged to state that in its opinion the American government cannot without justice contend for the open door in class C territories, at least as against Japan, and to inform the United States government at the same time that it cannot consider itself bound in any way to recognize the freedom of other nations in the manner insisted upon by the American government in regard to the landing and the operation of cables even in places where the principle of the open door is guaranteed."

AMERICA'S RIGHT TO VOICE IS ASSERTED

Secretary Hughes' note in reply to this, after stating that the United States is unable to agree with the Japanese position continued:

"In view of the frequent references in the note of the Japanese government to what is termed the decision of the supreme council, this government deems it appropriate to state the fundamental basis of its representations and the principles which in its view are determinative."

"It will not be questioned that the right to dispose of the overseas possessions of Germany was acquired only through the victory of the allied and associated powers, and it is also believed that there is no disposition on the part of the Japanese government to deal with the participation of the United States in that victory. It would seem to follow necessarily that the right accruing to the allied and associated powers through the common victory is shared by the United States and that there should be no valid or effective disposition of the overseas possessions of Germany without the assent of the United States."

AMERICAN RIGHTS NEVER WERE WAIVED

"This government must therefore point out that as the United States has never vested either the supreme council or the League of Nations with any authority to bind the United States or to act in its behalf, there has been no opportunity for any decision which could be deemed to affect the rights of the United States. The fact that the United States has not ratified the treaty of Versailles cannot detract from rights which the United States already has acquired. But it should be noted that the treaty of Versailles did not purport to secure to Japan or any other nation any right in the overseas possessions of Germany save as an equal right therein should be secured to the United States. On the contrary, Article 119 of the treaty of Versailles provides:

"Germany renounces in favor of the principal allied and associated powers all her rights and titles over her overseas possession. It will not be questioned that the United States is one of the principal allied and associated powers."

France Backs U. S. Stand On Cables, Editor Claims

By STEPHANE LAUZANNE, Editor of Le Matin, Paris.

(Copyright, 1921, by U. S. Feature Service Inc., N. Y. C.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 18.—It is possible that the French government will discuss to a certain extent the note of the American government regarding the mandates and the Yap question. It is certain, on the other hand, that the French public will not discuss it. If I have correctly understood it, the version adopted by the State Department is as follows: One day in Paris, on May 7, 1919, at one of the sittings of the famous Council of Four, the question of the German islands in the Pacific came up. The discussion was very short, and when it was suggested that some of these islands be given to Japan, President Wilson merely said: "I don't see why."

wrong should be done to American interests or even American susceptibilities.

America fought with the Allies, was victorious with the Allies. Now that the war is won she has the same rights as the Allies. In any case she has the right to ask that no ally should settle any matter in which she has a direct interest without first coming to an understanding with her.

This is no matter of sentiment but a question of logic. And in the field of logic, and for that matter in all other fields, every Frenchman will always agree with every American.

An American Senator spoke to me at great length regarding the cable question. He was explaining the importance America attaches to it, and pointing out that it was to her interest to have her own cable in the Pacific as well as in the Atlantic, so as to be able to control her communications. He finally asked me: "Don't you think that America's friendship is well worth a cable?"

I have no hesitancy in repeating quite audibly what I whispered to him: "Why certainly—especially when there is wireless telegraphy."

U. S. Woman Golf Champion Beaten

LONDON, April 18.—Miss Alexa Stirling, United States woman golf champion, made her first appearance on an English course today in a special women-against-men match held at Stoke Newington. Although defeated by her male opponent, Miss Stirling's play made a most favorable impression. Miss Stirling drew 9 H. De Montmorency as opponent and drew 10 in the first round. The match was played on a most favorable day for the women's championship.

Above all it will decide that there is no reason why, regarding any question, whether it be that of Yap, or of the mandates, or the cable or the oil question, the slightest be questioned that one of the principal allied and associated powers in whose favor Germany renounces her rights and titles the United States. Thus the terms of that treaty confirm the position of the government of the United States.

After referring to the original American note of November 9, the Hughes note continued: "It is a cause of regret to this government that after and despite this protest there should have been any attempt to pass upon drafts of mandates purporting to deal with the Pacific islands, including Yap, and that a mandate should have been approved, or attempted to be put into effect, which, while purporting to be made in the name of the United States, was without the assent of the United States. This government trusts that this action, which it must assume was taken under a misapprehension, will be reconsidered."

TREATY REGARDING YAP NOT APPROVED BY U. S.

"In particular, as no treaty has ever been concluded with the United States relating to the island of Yap, and as no one has ever been authorized to cede or surrender the right or interest of the United States in this island, this government must insist that it has not lost its right or interest as it expired prior to any action by the supreme council or the League of Nations, and cannot recognize the allocation of the island or the validity of the mandate to Japan."

"This government, as has been clearly stated in previous communications, seeks no exclusive interest in the island of Yap and has no desire to secure any privileges without having similar privileges accorded to other powers, including, of course, Japan, and relying upon the sense of justice of the government of Japan and of the government of the other allied and associated powers, this government looks with confidence on a disposition of the matter whereby the just interests of all may be properly conserved."

IRELAND TO ASK U. S. PUBLIC FOR $100,000,000 LOAN

De Valera's Assistant Urges Support at Opening of Convention.

CHICAGO, April 18 (By the Associated Press).—Irish-Americans from all sections of the country were here today for the opening of the first national convention of the American Association for the Recognition of the Irish Republic. The convention is being held at the Hotel Hamilton, and is the first of a series of meetings in the movement to gain American recognition of Ireland as a free nation.

The session opened with the invocation by a representative of Archbishop Muendelein of Chicago. Mayor Thompson welcomed the delegates. Other speakers today included Harry J. Boland, assistant to Eamon De Valera; Frank P. Walsh, counsel for the association; and Donald O'Sullivan, lord mayor of Cork. Miss Mary MacSwiney, sister of the late lord mayor of Cork, was on tonight's program.

"We seek for Ireland," Boland said, "the application of those noble principles for which you fought the war. We seek your support so that the age-long struggle may be continued in the recognition of Ireland by the United States. The struggle has resolved itself into a question of money. We will come to you again for a new loan for the republic. This convention must solve today so to organize that when the call comes you will be prepared to supply one hundred million dollars should Ireland ask it in the name of liberty."

"An effort is being made in America to create the impression that Ireland is unreasonable in her demands. Ireland insists on only one thing, the right of the Irish people to determine for themselves how they shall be governed. This is all Ireland asks—this and a peace with honor."

Messages from field leaders in Ireland's fight against England declaring that the Irish had virtually won, were read at the convention.

"The terror will break long before there will be any weakening of our people."

"Ireland is in better position now than she has ever been," wrote Michael Collins. "The British terror has failed and Ireland goes forward with unflinching determination to the final struggle."

De Valera's message was: "The terror will break long before there will be any weakening of our people."

JUANITA PLANS NUPTIAL FEAST

As the great white rose of the April moon reaches its full bloom, Juanita Miller and Juan are preparing for their nuptial feast at "The Heights" this week. What though the luminous light be dimmed, what though the heavens be clouded, and the sun be shadow upon the earth, it will not throw its cloud upon the romance of the poet's daughter and her bridegroom of a quarter of a year.

For behind Saturday night is the nuptial feast! The moon may be eclipsed, the stars may fall to shine, but Juanita and Juan and all their friends will dance under the starry trees of Juanita Miller planted upon the hills long ago. It will be the toast to their coming happiness.

Juanita Miller, clad in white, smiling in the moonlight, and Juan, the blanket of some long-ago Indian princess; and Juan, the pony suit identified with the "poet of the Sierras" covering his sport suit, lead the party of guests, which includes a half dozen maidens and a hundred fireflies will gleam from the magic circle formed by friends and guests. The feast will be held at the Golden Gate, where the guests will light the unique scene set above the Golden Gate. Such is the picturesque quality of the marriage celebration.

The small feast which today are gambling upon the green of the hillside will be sacrificed to the festivities. Roasted on the old-fashioned spit in the presence of all, portions will be served. The scores of wedding guests. The red wine, strictly in accord with prohibition limitations and made by the bride's own hand, will accompany the homely eaten cakes which Juanita is spending the week in the kitchen, turning in her own small kitchen. It is in this home-brew of grape juice and spices that the health of the bride and her bridegroom will be drunk.

That America Did Failed to Do at Paris

ROBERT LANSING
FOUNDER SECRETARY OF STATE

Photograph of Peace Conference Congress in Session

delegates in view of the fact that he had named but four commissioners, although it had been arranged that the Great Powers should each have five delegates in the conference. This clearly indicated that the President was at least considering sitting as the fifth member of the American group at the same time it seemed that, if he did not take his place in the conference as a delegate, he might retain in a measure his superior place of influence even though he was in Paris.

THINKS COL HOUSE AGREED WITH HIM. Four days after the commission landed at Brest I had a long conference with Colonel House on matters pertaining to the approaching negotiations, during which he informed me that there was a determined effort being made by the European statesmen to induce the President to sit at the peace table and that he was afraid that the President was disposed to accede to their wishes. This information indicated that, while the President had come to Paris prepared to act as a delegate, he had, in advising the President to adopt a course which would make him the head of the American commission, I am sure that the Colonel fully agreed with me that it was impossible for Mr. Wilson to become a delegate, but whether he actively opposed the plan I do not know, although I believe that he did. It was some days before the President announced that he would become the head of the American commission. I believe that he did this with grave doubts in his own mind as to the wisdom of his decision, and I do not think that any new arguments were advanced during those days which materially affected his judgment.

WILSON'S MEN MENTURE. This delay in reaching a final determination as to a course of action was characteristic of Mr. Wilson. There is in his mind a mixture of positiveness and indecision which is almost paradoxical. It is a peculiarity which it is hard to analyze and which has caused frequent embarrassment to him in the conduct of public affairs. Suddenness rather than promptness has always marked his decisions. Procrastination in announcing policy or in making a program of co-operation difficult and not infrequently defeats the desired purpose. To put off a decision to the last moment is a trait of Mr. Wilson's character. When he has often been anxious to those who, dealing with matters of vital importance, realized that delay was perilous if not disastrous.

OF THE consequences of the President's acting as one of his own representatives to negotiate peace it is not my purpose to speak. The events of the six months succeeding his decision to exercise in person his constitutional right to conduct the foreign relations of the United States are in a general way matters of common knowledge and furnish sufficient data for the formulation of individual opinions without the aid of argument or discussion. The important fact in connection with the general topic being considered is the difference of opinion between the President and myself as to the wisdom of his assuming the role of a delegate. While I did not discuss the matter with him except at the first when I opposed his attending the peace conference, I have little doubt that Colonel House, if he urged the President to decline to sit as a delegate, which I think may be presumed, or if he discussed it at all, mentioned to him my opinion that such a step would be unwise. In any event, the President's decision that he was to attend in person was made with the knowledge that he was acting in defiance of the opinion of the President and myself as to the wisdom of his assuming the role of a delegate. While I did not discuss the matter with him except at the first when I opposed his attending the peace conference, I have little doubt that Colonel House, if he urged the President to decline to sit as a delegate, which I think may be presumed, or if he discussed it at all, mentioned to him my opinion that such a step would be unwise. In any event, the President's decision that he was to attend in person was made with the knowledge that he was acting in defiance of the opinion of the President and myself as to the wisdom of his assuming the role of a delegate.

TO INSURE LEAGUE. It appears from a general review of the situation prior and subsequent to the assembling of the delegates to the peace conference, that President Wilson's decision to go to Paris and to engage in person in the negotiations was strongly influenced by his belief that it was the only sure way of providing in the treaty of peace for the organization of a League of Nations. While it is true that the President was probably affected to an extent by other considerations, as I have pointed out, it is to be presumed that he was anxious to participate directly in the drafting of the plan of organization of the league and to exert his personal influence on the delegates in favor of its acceptance by publicly addressing the conference. This he could hardly have done without becoming a delegate. It would seem, therefore, that the purpose of creating a League of Nations and obtaining the incorporation of a plan of organization in the treaty to be negotiated had much to do with the President's presence at the peace table.

From the time that the United States entered the war in April, 1917, Mr. Wilson held firmly to the idea that the salvation of the world from imperialism would not be leaving unless provision was made in the peace treaty for an international agency strong enough to prevent a future attack upon the rights and liberties of the nations which were at so great a cost holding in check the German armies and preventing them from carrying out their evil designs of conquest. The object sought by the United States in the war was not, in the views of many, to be achieved unless the world was organized to resist future aggression. The essential thing, as the President saw it, in order to make the world safe for democracy, "was to give permanency to the peace which would be negotiated at the conclusion of the war. A union of the nations for the purpose of preventing wars of aggression and conquest seemed to him the most practical, if not the only, way of accomplishing this purpose. He believed that it was his duty to make the world safe for democracy, and he used in his public addresses relating to the bases of peace.

PEOPLE SUPPORTED WORLD LEAGUE PLANS. There was much to be said in favor of the President's point of view. Unquestionably the American people as a whole supported him in the belief that there ought to be some international agreement or association of nations which would lessen the possibility of future wars. An international organization to remove in a measure the immediate causes of war, to provide means for the peaceful settlement of disputes between nations, and to draw the governments into closer friendship appeared to the general public as the only way of preventing the horrors and suffering through which mankind had passed must be made impossible. The President's plan seemed to be the only way to form an international union devoted to the maintenance of peace by compelling, as far as possible, controversies which might arise to be settled by peaceful means.

For many years prior to 1914 an organization devoted to the prevention of international wars had been discussed by those who were thoughtful of the nations and who sought to realize in a measure the precarious state of international peace. The Hague conventions of 1899 and of 1907 had been negotiated with this object, and it was only because of the improper aspirations and hidden designs of certain powers, which were represented at those great historic conferences, that the measures adopted were not more expressive of the common desire of mankind and more effective in securing the object sought. The Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, the Ginn, now the World Peace Foundation, and the American Peace Society, among others, had been organized to further the cause of international peace, and many other organizations in America and in Europe were active in the cause of international peace. The President's plan seemed to be the only way to form an international union devoted to the maintenance of peace by compelling, as far as possible, controversies which might arise to be settled by peaceful means.

MEANS TO BE USED ONLY QUESTION. The outbreak of the war and the dreadful waste and suffering which followed impelled the peoples and associations then organized to redoubled effort and induced the formation of new organizations. People everywhere began to realize that the objects were real and merely sentimental or academic, that they were seeking practical means to remove the conditions which had made the great war possible.

Public opinion became more and more pronounced as the subject was more widely discussed in the journals and periodicals of the day and among the people. The divergent views being chiefly in regard to the means to be employed by the proposed organization and not as to the creation of the organization, the necessity of which appeared to be generally conceded.

With popular sentiment overwhelmingly in favor of some sort of world union which would to some extent insure the nations against another tragedy like the one which in November, 1918, has left the belligerents wasted and exhausted and the whole world a prey to social and industrial unrest, there was beyond question a demand that out of the great international assembly at Paris there should come some common agency devoted to the prevention of war. To ignore this prevalent sentiment would have been to misrepresent the peoples of the civilized world, and would have aroused almost universal condemnation and protest. The President was, therefore, entirely right in giving prominence to the idea of an international union against war, and in insisting that the Peace Conference should make provision for the establishment of an organization of the world with the prevention of future wars as its central thought.

BULK OF AMERICANS WANTED PEACE LEAGUE. The great bulk of the American people, at the time that the President left the United States to attend the Peace Conference, undoubtedly believed that some sort of organization of this nature was necessary, and I am convinced that the same popular belief prevailed in all other civilized countries. It is possible that this assertion may seem too emphatic to some who have opposed the plan for a League of Nations which appears in the first articles of the Treaty of Versailles, but, if these opponents of the plan will go back to the time of which I am writing, and avoid the impressions made upon them by subsequent events they will find, I believe, that even their own views have materially changed since December, 1918.

The mass of the people were only concerned with the general idea. There was no well-defined opposition to that idea. At least it was not vocal. Even the defeat of the Democratic party in the Congressional elections of November, 1918, could not be interpreted to be a repudiation of the formation of a world organization.

REBUKE TO WILSON IN NOVEMBER VOTE. That election by which both Houses of Congress became Republican, was a popular rebuke to Mr. Wilson for the partisanship shown in this letter of October addressed to the American people, in which he practically asserted that it was his patriotic duty to support the Republican candidates. The indignation and resentment aroused by this injudicious and unwarranted attack upon the loyalty of his political opponents lost to the Democratic party the Senate and largely reduced its membership in the House of Representatives, it is true, but it did not deprive the party of control of that body.

The result, however, did not mean that the President's ideas as to the terms of peace were repudiated, but that his practical assertion, that refusal to accept his policies, was patriotic, was repudiated by the American people.

(Tomorrow Mr. Lansing tells something of the story of the League of Nations, and quotes a letter he wrote to the President in 1916 opposing international agreement which might call for the use of force.)

After a long period of idleness, the paystreak in the mine was rediscovered accidentally and a modern reduction plant installed. The first cleanup of the new plant, which was made recently, showed the gold ore to be as rich as it was when the mine was first operated.

Not Beauty Only

These whiter teeth mean safer teeth as well

No doubt the great reason why millions use Pepsodent is to get prettier teeth. It removes the dingy film.

But science has more important objects. Pepsodent brings five-effects, and all of them mean better tooth protection.

The ruinous film
Film is that viscous coat you feel. It clings to teeth, gets between the teeth and stays. Old methods of brushing do not effectively combat it. So it often lingers long.

Film absorbs stains, making the teeth look dingy. Countless teeth are thus made dingy.

Film is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. Also of other serious troubles. Most of the tooth and gum attacks are now traced to that film.

Must combat it daily
After diligent research science has found two ways to combat that film. Many careful tests have proved them. Now leading dentists everywhere advise their daily use.

Both are embodied in a modern tooth paste—Pepsodent. Every use attacks the film in two effective ways. It also brings three other results which have proved essential.

Fights starch and acid
Pepsodent does what fruit acids do. It multiplies the salivary flow. It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva, to digest starch deposits that cling. It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva, to neutralize the acids which cause tooth decay.

Those are Nature's great tooth-protecting agents. Every use of Pepsodent multiplies their powers.

Effects are apparent
Millions now know the delightful effects. Any one who will can quickly see and feel them.

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear. Then read the reasons in the book we send.

PASSOVER FEAST WILL BEGIN NEXT FRIDAY EVENING

Oakland Congregations to Hear Traditional Music and Ritualistic Services.

Celebration of the Passover or the feast of unleavened bread, significant in Jewish synagogues as the period during which the Hebrews were delivered from the tyranny of the Egyptian kings, will be held in the various synagogues of Oakland, beginning with the home service or seder, on Friday evening, April 22, and continuing until Friday evening, April 23.

In Temple Sinai the first service will be held Saturday morning at 10:15 o'clock under the direction of the various officers of the temple. The home service will be conducted on Friday evening.

Members of Beth Jacob congregation, who worship at Ninth and Castro streets, will begin their celebration of the holiday with a service in the synagogue on Friday evening, April 22. Special traditional music and ritualistic services will be held under the direction of Rabbi Ploplek upon returning from the synagogue the home ceremony, or seder, will be observed with all members of the family participating. The ritual of the seder includes the reading of a richly adorned tale of deliverance, "The Hagadah," wherein the various events leading up to the Exodus and immediately following it are told.

On Saturday two services will be held in the synagogue, one at 8:30 o'clock a. m. and the second in the evening at 7 o'clock. Both services will be repeated on Sunday at the same hours.

REACHES TO ANTIQUITY
The festival of Passover, called in Hebrew "Pesach," reaches back to remote antiquity, when it was observed by the early Hebrew tribes as an agricultural spring festival. At an early period Pesach was transformed into a festival celebrating the redemption of the Hebrews from Egyptian slavery.

By connecting this festival with the deliverance of the Hebrews from the Egyptian yoke, new intent was provided for its observance. The festival and the ritual ceremony observed during the seven days in which it is celebrated among reform Jews, or eight days among the orthodox, is not only identified with the Exodus of the children of Israel from Egyptian tyranny, but further symbolizes joy in the triumph of liberty and freedom over oppression and slavery.

The festival of Pesach was used by the synagogue as a means of consecrating the Jewish home to God, who is regarded as the Redeemer and Protector of Israel. The story of the deliverance of their forefathers from bondage and slavery reminded the Jews of God's providential guidance and gave them confidence in their final redemption from all oppression and woe.

SUSTAINED BY TRUST
The Passover feast endowed the Jew ever anew with the hold of the dark night of medieval bigotry. This trust in the "Keeper of Israel" sustained the Jews during the severest hardships. Upheld by the confident hope that Israel's glorious redemption opened the gateway of liberty to all who are oppressed, Passover came to be regarded as the festival of liberty for all mankind.

During the Passover week the "Matzo," unleavened bread, is eaten. This food, described as the "bread of affliction," is a symbol reminding the present generation of the hasty Exodus of Israel from the land of oppression.

What's Happening in the Motor World

by Jim Houlihan

The Luthy Company, Inc., will build batteries in Alameda county to supply the entire west coast trade which now represents this line. Their plant will be the largest of its kind on the Pacific slope, production will be under way in six weeks and according to statement given out today by Oakland Branch Manager Denny about 175 employees will be put to work at once.

The Berger & Carter factory in Hayward has been secured. Machinery for making batteries is particularly here, en route or to come west in time for the opening manufacturing day, early in June.

Omer Denny, whose brother is Oakland branch manager will be general manager of the plant and in charge of battery construction. He declares that a maximum of from 350 to 400 batteries, daily, will shortly be turned out from the Hayward factory.

The Luthy Company is one of the new firms in the battery field. In this section the men who sell the Luthy product have proven very aggressive and have forged their way ahead with their batteries until they are one of the leading among a dozen different makes sold in East-bay counties.

Executive offices are to be maintained by the new California battery builders in the Holbrook building, San Francisco.

GOODYEAR SALES ARE BIG
Indicative of the remarkable conditions in the automobile industry, viewing it from a California angle is the prosperous position in which the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company this state finds itself.

Tire production increases at the plant in Los Angeles for the past month are claimed to have been regular weekly occurrences. It is said to be a dull week that sees no advance in the company's output.

On the heels of Vice-President and General Manager A. Osterloh's statement last week that production had advanced to sixteen hundred tires daily, comes the announcement from him that the plant's output was increased this morning to two thousand tires per day. The tube output has been augmented to fifteen hundred and fifty daily.

Osterloh states that the present increase is the fourth necessary in the last month during which time the output of the factory has been trebled. The plant is now producing one hundred and fifty tires per day more than it did last fall at the same production point, when eight-hundred and forty-nine tires were turned out in a single day.

BUSINESS COMING BACK
Business is rapidly coming back in the tire industry, says the Goodyear manager.

The advent of spring which has opened earlier than usual this year permitting the operation of automobiles in all sections of the West and the increased output of automobiles are the main causes of the stimulation of the tire business. Just at this time our production has reached a point that we can reasonably expect to maintain through the spring and summer months.

Our dealers and manufacturers' business indicates that an output of about two thousand tires per day will just about take care of the demand in the western territory.

We expect to be able to keep going along at this rate of production since our output started on its upward trend four weeks ago.

ADD MORE WORKMEN
We have added two hundred and forty workmen to our forces up to the present. Only former Goodyear employees who were laid off last fall have been hired but now we are able to put on a few men to take care of this latest production advance. We are working nearly all departments sixteen hours a day in two eight-hour shifts.

During the first five months of our present fiscal year we have sold nearly one hundred and eighty thousand tires only twenty thousand less than were sold in 1920 when conditions were good. Tube sales ran about the same as last year, while in repair materials and accessories we ran ahead of last year.

MRS. FERNALD SAYS CHARGES AGAINST BELL ARE UNTRUE

Denies Attorney Harassed Mrs.
J. E. McGowan With False Reports.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 18.—Charges made by Mrs. Irma E. McGowan that she had been harassed into signing a $5000 note in favor of Attorney Theodore Bell by tales of secret indictments against Wilhelm von Brincken and his wife Milo Abercrombie von Brincken, Mrs. McGowan's daughter, are denied in a statement which has been made public by Mrs. Josephine Fernald of Palo Alto. Mrs. Fernald has been charged by Mrs. McGowan as having been an intermediary in the alleged deal.

The charges against Bell are incorporated in an answer filed by Mrs. McGowan's husband, an attorney, in reply to a suit for the $5000 filed by Clarence Smith, assignee for Bell.

SAYS CHARGES ABSURD
Mrs. Fernald declares. Mrs. McGowan's charges are absurd. In a signed statement last January during a controversy between Bell and Mrs. McGowan, I stated plainly my connection with the case. I am not a friend and associate of Bell's as Mrs. McGowan charges. I was Mrs. McGowan's friend. She told me she was very much worried because of von Brincken's proximity to Franz Hopp and Von Schack and was anxious to have him declared a prisoner of war so he would be removed from their sphere at Angel Island.

Because of her husband's relations as attorney for Hopp and Von Schack she thought he could not well take an active part in efforts for von Brincken.

BELL DIDN'T WANT CASE
Mrs. McGowan asked me to suggest some one and I told her Theodore Bell had been my attorney a number of cases. Bell was reluctant to take the case but Mrs. McGowan prevailed upon him. It was understood that his fee was to be $5000. There was no understanding as to my holding the note. It was accepted by Bell without collateral security. Through Bell's personal efforts von Brincken's transfer to Fort Scott was ultimately contrived. I know nothing about Mrs. McGowan's charges that Bell harassed Mrs. von Brincken by telling her she had been secretly indicted for carrying messages from her husband in prison to the dynamiters of the powder magazine at Mare Island. Mrs. McGowan's statement that I told her I had a relative in the District Attorney's office who told me of the secret indictment is untrue.

Bell is out of town on a business trip.

Playground Notes

Bella Vista playground has all sorts of interesting activities going on this spring. On Friday, April 15, a baseball game was played between teams of the Alexander Hamilton

Junior school and Intermediate school. Both schools were represented by rooting sections. The score was 5 to 4 in favor of the Intermediate.

The lineup was:
Intermediate—Cambra, Neal, Miller, Jordan, Hill, Haines, Lestrangle, Johnston, Underwood.
Alexander Hamilton Jr. High—
Jory, Blunck, Carpenter, Anderson, Inkster, Ellis, White, Mason, Perriera.

A party from Bella Vista enjoyed a skating party at Idora park on Friday, April 15. They were accompanied by Miss Marie Muscott, playground director of Bella Vista playground. Among those who enjoyed the evening were Mr. and Mrs.
Becraft, Dorothy Becraft, Evie
Perioria, Lester Perioria, Earle Mc-Quick, Miss Marion Sweet.

Thirty girls from Franklin school playground are practicing to give a May basket dance in the May festival in the Auditorium May 2. Franklin school playground also plans to join with the Park Boulevard playground in a May day celebration at Park Boulevard on May 8. In the meantime the girls are busily making attractive May baskets under the direction of their playground director, Miss Helen Lacy.

Under the direction of Miss Portia Agoniet and Burris Wood, playground directors, the children of Fremont school playground are enjoying a variety of activities. On Saturday, April 15, a large party plans to take to Diamond canyon. At a recent track meet the entire school turned out to support the young athletes of the school in track activities.
The girls were the guests a few days ago of the girls of Poplar-street playground, where baseball, nine-court basket ball and long ball were enjoyed.

On Wednesday, April 12, the Knockskole Camp Fire, of the Fremont playground held a birthday party in the De Fremery clubhouse.
Parents and relatives of the girls were guests. The evening's entertainment consisted of a Camp Fire program, including songs and talks, after which refreshments were served. This was the second birthday of this Camp Fire group and eleven of the original members were present.

VOTES ARE ASKED FOR PLAYGROUND CHARTER CHANGE

Amendment Would Enable
City to Enlarge Activities,
It Is Declared.

As a means of emphasizing the necessity of the passage of the proposed playground charter amendment at the election tomorrow, members of the board of playground directors today issued a statement calling attention to the "situation which confronts the playgrounds of the city." Unless the amendment is adopted, according to the statement, many of the activities which have grown up on the playgrounds during the past ten years, will be jeopardized.

The statement follows: "The activities which will be in jeopardy because of the technical wording of the charter are tennis, baseball, volley ball, picnics, May festivals, community pageants and evening activities, which involve the family groups and older boys and girls. All of this will be legalized by changing the name from 'children's playgrounds' to 'public playgrounds.'
Also, unless the amendment is adopted the fate of the grant of 10 acres in the mountains which the United States government has given to the city of Oakland for municipal camp purposes will be in doubt.
With the passage of the amendment this fine tract becomes the property of the City of Oakland and when operated as a municipal camp on a cost basis to the persons who attend it will become a tremendous asset for boys and girls and family groups.
A camp of this kind can be operated on a cost basis at $8 per week per person.

NOT POLITICAL MEASURE.

"The board of playground directors wishes to place emphasis on the fact that this is not a political measure and that no tax or budget question is involved. It is simply a measure to clear up certain misunderstandings and make provisions in the charter for activities which until recently the board and the freeholders who framed the charter believed were in the charter.

"The great importance of wholesome leisure time activities for the

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered
Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr.
Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after-effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel.
They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums.
So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lousy" and heavy. They "clear" clouded brain, as "perk up" the spirits.

"IT JUST MADE ME FEEL HAPPY"

Oakland Woman Tells of How Tanlac Restored
Her Year Ago—Felt Fine
Ever Since, She Says.

"Although it was fully a year ago that I took Tanlac, it restored my health so perfectly that even now I feel as well and strong as I ever did in my life," said Mrs. Gertrude Waiter of 1227 Jefferson St., Oakland, recently.

"In 1919 I had a severe attack of the flu and it left me in a terrible condition. I was completely rundown, had no desire to eat and my stomach was badly upset. At times I suffered so from gas and bloating it seemed like each breath would be my last. I was so nervous and restless that lots of mornings I got up feeling worse than I did the night before. I became awfully thin and pale and hardly had the strength to even get around the house, much less try to do any housework. And with all this I contracted rheumatism in my left hip and it spread all the way down my leg into my heel and foot and it was all I could do to limp around.

"I didn't weigh but 103 pounds when my sister-in-law, who had been taking Tanlac, advised me to try it. And I never will forget how I started improving; it just made me feel happy. I took six bottles in all and gained thirteen pounds in weight and got rid of a case of constipation from which I had suffered from childhood. I just felt splendid in every way and to this day have enjoyed the best of health.
My husband had had an attack of the flu and it left him weak and badly run down, just like it did me.
So when he saw how Tanlac was helping me, he started taking it and it soon restored him to perfect health, too. We have nothing but the highest praise for Tanlac.
Tanlac is sold in Oakland by the Owl Drug Co. and leading druggists.—Advertisement.

Protect the Mothers and Babies in Oakland first

The children of today are the men and women of tomorrow.

The conditions under which their moral, mental and physical development is gained is of paramount importance to every citizen of Oakland.

government in which rests responsibility of making the environment

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC HEALTH AND SAFETY

If you are to entrust the health and safety of your family in the charge of a man, you certainly would use your best endeavor to learn the character and responsibility of that man. You might have many applicants for the place, but the one you finally selected would surely be a man of proven veracity, honorable and trustworthy, and in whom you had a personal confidence that he would merit your trust in him.

You would very carefully investigate his record.

This is all we ask of you to do in the case of Mr. Morse who is a candidate to succeed himself as the Commissioner of Public Health and Safety, a position which he has held for the past four years.

The following achievements of Commis- sioner Morse are a few of the many taken from the official records at the City Hall:

Voted the reopening of children's playgrounds on school property after they had been closed, by other officials.

Provided an adequate traffic squad to regulate and direct automobile and pedestrian traffic, especially protecting the lives of school children.

Voted to start proceedings to supply the city with an abundance of pure mountain water.

Raised inspection standard of food, milk, meat and sanitation, drawing favorable comment from the U. S. health authorities.

Provided a modern and up-to-date motor ambulance at no additional expense to the city.

Fought continuously against commercialized vice and self-seeking interests and in favor of a clean and upright city government.

Mr. Morse has been endorsed by many so- cieties and unions who have carefully investi- gated his record. A few of which are as follows:

The Ministerial Union, The Church Women's League, State Building Trades Council, Plasterers' Local No. 112, Lathers' Local No. 88, Sheet Metal Workers' Local, Material Teamsters No. 577, State Plumbers' Association, Plumbers' Local No. 444, Sleeper and Dining Car Porters' Union, Felt, Tar and Gravel Roofers' Union, Cement Workers' Local, Millmen's Local No. 550, Machinists' Union, Carpenters' Local No.
1667, I. O. G. T., Swedish-American Club, Journeymen Plumbers' and Steam Fitters'
Union No. 444, and many others that space will not permit mentioning.

Under its present leadership the police department of the city of Oakland has achieved a remarkable efficiency in a short space of time. Since Chief Fenton G. Thompson was appointed a harmony greater than ever before exists in the organization. State and federal authorities are co-operating to the limit with the Oakland department. New police beats have been established with every beat covered for the first time in the history of the city and new traffic rules have been inaugurated which have greatly relieved the traffic congestion. Thirty-six new officers have recently been appointed.

The real issue in the present campaign is, shall honesty prevail in your city government? The tools of vice interests have been forced out of control. In consequence these vice manipulators are complaining loudly and are spending large sums of money to defeat the present commissioner.

The fight is not alone for Commissioner Morse but for every decent person residing in the city of Oakland.
If control of the city government is to be retained by decent people

Strength Compels Admiration

A Man is just as Young and Strong as his Blood

No man can fight the battles of life and hold his own if his blood is not pure, for rich red blood is what strength is based upon. When you see a strong, vigorous man, who never knows when he is licked, you may wager that such a man has coursing through his veins rich, red blood. Many people have thin, pale blood.
They are weak, tire easily, become discouraged quickly, and sometimes feel like giving up the struggle. Such folks need Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which is sold by druggists in liquid or tablet form. Contains no alcohol.

It adds vim, vigor and vitality, tones up the nerves in a wonderful way. This "Medical Discovery" of Dr. Pierce's is made from Blood root, Oregon Grape root, Stone root, contains no alcohol—yet tones up the stomach, stimulates the liver and puts the blood-making glands in the best of condition.

Engine trouble caused the plane to ignite. The pilot made a clever descent and landed at the foot of Pierce street here and escaped from the burning ship unscathed. The entire plane, with the exception of the fuselage, was destroyed.

Try This If You
Have Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This dissolves it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.—Advertisement.

News of the Theaters

ORPHEUM

Four headline features are on the bill at the Oakland Orpheum this week. They are the Ford dancers, James C. Morton and company, Edith Clifford and Tom Smith.

The Ford dancing act is presented by a quartet of vaudeville's premiere steps, including Mayme Gehru, Edwin Ford, Lottie Ford, Bob Adams and William Cutty as pianist.

James C. Morton, the comedian, with three more members of the talented family, Mamie, Edna and Alfred, present a comedy travesty that is a laughing riot.

As a brilliant singing comedienne with a rare sense of humor, Miss Clifford ranks in a class by herself. Tom Smith's offering is pure fun all the way through and is good for a continuous stream of chuckles.

"One Summer Day" is the title of an offering by Delmar & Dobb. The Murray Girls, Evangeline and Kathleen, in songs and dances scores heavily. Bert Melrose causes laughs and gasps with his fall from the top of his pile of tables.

The Hall Room Boys in "A Close Shave" and the latest Topics of the Day are the film offerings.

AMERICAN

"Straight From Paris." Clara Kimball Young's spectacular new play, is the headline feature of the double bill at the American. On the same program is seen "Half a Chance," adapted from Frederick Scham's famous novel, and starring Nathan Hamilton and Lillian Rich.

"Straight From Paris" is an astonishing story of a milliner's masquerade as a woman of title. In this guise she invades high society in a highly successful manner.

"Half a Chance" is a tale of Young America, and is essentially a comedy, although a charming romance runs through its action.

John Wharry Lewis and his orchestra offer special music. Edgar Bayliss and Clement Barker alternate at the organ.

KINEMA

David Belasco's "The Heart of Maryland," with Crane Wilbur in his first starring picture since the days when he was Oakland's matinee idol and playwright, is drawing crowds to the Kinema theater this week, with a program which includes a Christie comedy, "Wedding Blues," and a Burton Holmes Travelogue to Constantinople.

Crane Wilbur appears as the young Northerner who is forced to choose between his love of his country and his love for a beautiful Southern girl who unwittingly turns him into a death trap thinking him a spy, and later risks her own life to save him.

LOEW'S STATE

Something new in motion pictures, "Flame of Youth," Shirley Mason's latest picture, was shown yesterday at Loew's State Theater.

Josie Flynn, the well-known comedienne, with her fashion ministrals, introduces seven spirited girls in a program of cheerful tunes. Lee Mason with an agreeable singing voice, appears in a cycle of exclusive melodies and comedy with Stan Scott her accompanist at the piano. Robert Giles is known as the merry mimic. Senna and Stevens offer a fast singing and dancing "rush."

Paul Ash, director of the orchestra, caused a riot of laughter with his clever impersonations of Supple, Creators and Sousa.

Coming to the State Wednesday to Saturday, inclusive, is Vera Gordon in "The Greatest Love."

PANTAGES

The Pantages boasts seven corking good acts of vaudeville this week in addition to a very funny Sunshine comedy.

Olga Steck is making her debut in Pantages vaudeville. The Molero Revue reveals six very fine vocalists, with their own pianist, a clever and talented man. Paul Kleist is a pantomime artist who whistles and plays on instruments. George Kimble has a nice deep singing voice and with Kitty Mae puts over a chatter and song turn called "Catching A Car." Fernande and Shelley offer acrobatic features. Brit Wood, as usual, wears the blue ribbon on the new bill at Pantages. Clever gymnasts, the White brothers, open the bill.

T. & D.

"Mamma's Affair" bubbles with the effervescence of Constance Talmadge's personality. Taking Eve and her wiles as the basis for a full future temptation for man, First National producers have given the T. and D. theater another headliner attraction.

The program boasts the presence of another illustrious star, Bessie Barriscale. Her present vehicle is "The Broken Gate."

Let Lani be back with a feast of new songs and Forman's concert add to an enjoyable program.

CHIMES

Billie Burke in her latest film creation "The Education of Elizabeth," will be presented at the Chimes theater commencing today.

Billie Burke has the role of Elizabeth Banks, an uncouth but worthy chorus girl. In a Broadway chorus she scored 100 in every examination. And when it came to languages, she took first honors in slang. Then love took her to an "upper ten" household, perched high on a family tree. What followed jarred even the ancestors.

FRANKLIN

Agnes Ayres, Kathryn Williams, Theodore Roberts, Forrest Stanley and Theodore Kosloff head the cast used in "Forbidden Fruit," which is playing the second and final week's engagement at the New Franklin theater. The week ends Friday night, and "Forbidden Fruit" will be followed Saturday by Anne Sewell's world famous story, "Black Beauty."

Most of the interest centers around a beautiful drudge, married to a worthless, idle husband, and suddenly given a brief chance to wear fine clothes and taste the luxuries of life.

The program includes Larry Semon's comedy, "The Sultan," a piano-flute recital by Emmy Linden and Mr. Arthur Linden and La Roy Green, singing the program to

Bessie Barriscale Keeps Her Audience in Uproar

Bessie Barriscale last night at the Fulton playhouse conclusively demonstrated to several hundred Oakland theater-goers that the Bessie Barriscale of the legitimate stage is superior, even to the Bessie Barriscale of the shadow screen.

Supported by Howard Hickman and a cast of Fulton players, with Paul Harvey playing opposite, this winsome young actress who has deserted the motion picture field to return to the footlights, made her debut in Oakland in "The Skirt," and upheld the almost-forgotten theory that something more than a pretty face and a perfect figure—the main requisites of a moving picture star—are necessary possessions of a speaking actress.

From the moment Miss Barriscale made her entrance in the opening scene of "The Skirt" in her exaggerated but vastly-becoming cowboy attire, reprieve from "genuine angers" to jaunty sombrero perched rakishly on her small head, she captivated her audience and carried it through the entire comedy on a wave of hilarious amusement by her naive and airy portrayal of a "sure enough boy."

IN COWBOY ATTIRE
She comes to the Arizona ranch house arrayed in a cowboy's fashion through a bet with a girl chum that she can succeed in the masculine role. The ranch is owned by Jack Warren, played by Paul Harvey, brother of Ethel Warren, the chum of the bet. Jack, already in love with the masquerading and bewitching little "cowboy" through former meetings, early recognizes his sweetheart, Betty (Bob) Price, but decided to play her game, and cleverly aids his cowpunchers throughout the farce in putting the newcomer through the usual "ropes."

Their clever conspiracies to show "The Skirt" the thrills and horrors of ranch life and the wild, woolly west of frontier days, are the background for four acts of vastly amusing scenes—episodes and side-splitting comedies such as the old time cow-puncher and his faithful coterie of followers, alone were capable of staging.

AUDIENCE PLEASSED
"Curley," the leader of the cow-puncher gang, is played admirably, and in true realistic fashion by Howard Hickman, who throughout the comedy shares honors with the petite star and her leading man. But the real zest and spirit of the amusing episodes is furnished by Miss Barriscale, the adorable "Bob," who in addition to charming her audience by the same piquant daintiness which has characterized her distinction on the screen stage, even though attired in clumsy masculine togs, plays the part with such airy tomboy abandon and guileless innocence, she continually carries her audience into spasms of laughter.

Bessie Barriscale of the screen was winsome and lovely, as her speaking self she is doubly enchanting because of the refreshing, wholesome personality of this delightfully talented actress. The part of "Bob," the pretending cowboy, is played not alone with clever originality and realism, but Miss Barriscale succeeds in throwing herself into her part, that of a highly lovable and magnetic personality as well.

THRILLING ADVENTURES
She captivates her audience quite as completely through her series of madcap, hair-raising adventures through her masquerade in a boy's wig as she does when as the dainty little Betty, she appears as her screen lovers know her, wearing her own familiar blonde curls and feminine attire in the final scene.

Here the pretty romance with her ranchman lover, Jack, ends, after the faithful gang of cowpunchers has called to pay her respects and has vowed lifelong devotion to her and after the newly born child in the corral has been duly named in her honor.

The rest of the cast play their parts in true western style, and lend an admirable setting for the comedy. The play is abounding in romance, with Grace Carter, who "owns Jimmie body and soul," played by Minnie Mae Sleson, furnishing much amusement through her constant quarrels with Jimmie, played by John Ivan, and Ethel Warren, Jack's sister, played by Anna Dugan, pretty flirting throughout the scenes with Harry Newman, an adoring rancher, which part is taken by William Hanley.—H. S.

BROADWAY
Reflecting all the color and atmosphere of its wonderful stage success, "Colorado" at the Broadway theater is one of the screen's greatest productions. Augustus Thomas' famous stage play provides a vehicle that is both romantic and thrilling.

The character of the man whose conscience drove him to retribution is finely done by Frank Mayo. Gloria Hope is his co-star in the production.

Scenes which show the flooding of a mine and the escape of the miners are one of the sensational episodes of "Colorado." A comedy and Phantoms in "The Al of Sacrifice" are additional features on today's program.

NATIVE SONS' GRAND PARLOR OPENS SESSION

More Than 450 Delegates At Stockton Represent Order's 24,600 Members.

STOCKTON, April 15.—The anti-Japanese problem, the care of home-bound children of deceased members, and consideration of a new ritual for initiatory work, were the three principal matters on the business program of the forty-fourth annual meeting of the Grand Parlor, Native Sons of the Golden West, which opened a four-day session here today.

More than 450 delegates are here to represent the 24,600 members of the organization. Sonoma Not in Favor of County Division

SONOMA VALLEY, April 18.—Sonoma Valley, called the "Valley of the Moon," by Jack London, seems in little danger of being split in two by the county division plan launched by Petaluma.

The petition requesting that an election be called to form the new county of Petaluma out of territory now in Sonoma county includes a large part of Sonoma Valley. And it is finding few signers here.

"KIDDED" MAN RUNS AMUCK; ONE KILLED

SAN DIEGO, April 18.—Driven to desperation by "kidding" on the part of other employees, it is declared, John A. Haulman, 60, today ran amuck with a pistol at the city machine shop.

He fired five shots into the back of William H. Hovers, 56, while the latter lay under an auto truck, repairing it. Hovers was instantly killed.

The men had quarreled Saturday, according to City Manager Rhodes, when the "kidding" had gone beyond the limits of friendly banter, and a quarrel ensued in which Haulman was struck on the head with a piece of iron.

Both men had worked at the city shops for a number of years. Haulman made no attempt to escape after the shooting and was lodged in the city jail.

CITY PLANNING BOARD HAS ITS FIRST MEETING

Purchase of Trestle Glen Is One of Matters to Be Taken Up.

The first organization meeting of the City Planning Commission appointed last week by Commissioner Edwards was held today in the office of Commissioner Edwards, where plans for regular gatherings were made.

The commission includes F. Bruce Madden, Harry A. Lafler, William Knowles, Roscoe D. Jones and Commissioner Frederick Soderberg. Its preliminary meeting continued for an hour and work was started toward definite programs of procedure for the betterment of the city.

Edwards' letter of notification to the commission says: "There are a number of important matters which must be referred to the commission at once, such as a proposal to purchase Trestle Glen, proposed zoning ordinance, districting the city and other matters relating to street openings and extensions."

Accordingly, it is an urgent request that you call together members of the committee and complete its organization. As soon as that is done it is desired that your commission give immediate consideration to the important matters named and such other matters as shall arise from time to time.

ONE OF CITY'S NEEDS. I have a great deal of confidence in the valuable work which can be accomplished by your commission. The city of Oakland today needs a responsible body conversant with city planning so that the future development of the city may be protected.

More than a year ago I introduced a similar city planning ordinance which has lain dormant. At the present time, however, after presenting the matter to the City Council, I succeeded in obtaining the ordinance necessary for the passage of this ordinance.

Thanking you in advance for the splendid work which you can and will accomplish, Commissioner Edwards today referred to Mayor Davis' assertion that the choosing of the City Planning Commission was questionable because Edwards had taken advantage of the mayor's absence to name the commission while acting as mayor.

REPLIES TO MAYOR. In a public statement, Edwards said: "I note in the press that Mayor Davis charges me with having played a legal trick upon him during his absence by appointing a City Planning Commission."

"Eighteen months ago an ordinance to create a City Planning Commission was introduced in the city council. Since that time no action has been taken whatsoever by Mayor Davis to procure its passage. It is hard to understand why eighteen months is not sufficient time in which to create so important a commission."

"The fact is that I played no legal trick whatsoever. On the contrary, a step toward actual progress was being taken by the city council. It was the mayor's absence which prevented the appointment of capable persons to that commission. The City of Oakland is one of the few larger cities which have no such body. I am sure that the city would be benefited by the appointment of such a commission."

BROTHERS-IN-LAW CARRY BOOZE FOR BROWN, THEY SAY

L. G. Norris and A. de Grassi Testify As to Trips With Black Satchel.

Testimony that Herbert Hamilton Brown, San Francisco insurance agent and man about town, used his two brothers-in-law, A. de Grassi, San Francisco bond broker, and L. G. Norris, to carry Gordon King, Scotch whisky, vermouth and chocolate in a satchel from his Piedmont home to his office across the bay was introduced in Superior Judge Kofoed's court today by Norris and de Grassi.

Both Norris and de Grassi took the witness stand today on behalf of Mrs. Florence Sharon Brown, who is suing Brown for divorce and alimony of $500 a month. Mrs. Brown was not in the courtroom. Norris was placed on the stand by Peter J. Crosby, chief counsel for Mrs. Brown, and admitted under questioning that he attended a "farewell" party at Brown's former Piedmont home on April 12, 1920, on the eve of prohibition.

ADMITTING INTOXICATION. Norris told the court that he had partaken of five or six drinks one-third way.

Under the cross-examination of M. C. Chapman, Brown's attorney, Norris admitted that he was intoxicated. "Were you intoxicated?" asked Chapman, referring to the "farewell" party at Brown's home.

"Well," replied the witness, "I began to feel—"

"Answer the question," shouted Chapman.

"Yes, I was," answered Norris. Norris said that on several occasions he had gone from Piedmont to San Francisco with Brown and had occasionally carried a black satchel.

WITH BLACK BAG. A. de Grassi, husband of Mrs. Brown's sister and a San Francisco bond broker, gave evidence along the same line as that of Norris, but he gave a detailed description of Brown's trips to his office in San Francisco with the "little black bag."

"What was the usual number of drinks taken by Mr. Brown at the Palace Hotel parties in San Francisco?" asked Crosby in examining this witness.

"Three," answered Norris. "What kind of liquor?" "Whisky."

"What was Will De Fremery's place of business, a saloon?" "No, a wholesale distributing place."

"A distributing place for what?" "For Gordon King, Scotch whisky, vermouth and chocolate, absinthe and imported choice wines."

"Where was the liquor kept?" "In bottles."

"Was there a bar there?" "Yes."

CARRIED BY REQUEST. "Mr. de Grassi, in 1919 did you at any time observe if Mr. Brown carried a satchel?" "Did you ever carry it?" "Yes."

"Why?" "He asked me to."

"What kind of a satchel was it?" "A black satchel."

"What did he want it for?" "He said he didn't want any of his friends to see him carrying it and he asked me if I would not please carry it for him."

"Was it light or heavy?" "It was heavy."

"Did you carry it all of the way over on the ferry and to his office in San Francisco?" "Yes."

"How many entrances were there to his office?" "There were two and we went in by his private door right from the street."

"Did you ever see him open the satchel?" "Yes."

"What was in it, if you know?" "Whisky bottles and whisky bottles. He put them in his desk."

De Grassi further testified that he had been at the Brown home several times when Brown was under the influence of liquor, that the evidences of this condition were flushed face and glassy eyes. Asked by Attorney Crosby what was one of the indications of Brown's intoxication, De Grassi replied: "He was always very polite to myself and wife. Often polite to such an extent that he appeared ridiculous."

Court adjourned with De Grassi still on the stand.

Chicago Socialists Favor Bolsheviks. CHICAGO, April 18.—Chicago Socialists have voted in favor of the Bolshevik program as expressed in the third international at Moscow. It was announced today following the balloting for delegates from Cook county to the national Socialist convention in Detroit, June 25. J. Louis Engdahl and William H. Krueger, representing the radical wing of the party, were elected.

Freight Rate Hearing Promised by Board. SACRAMENTO, April 18.—The Interstate Commerce Commission has accepted an invitation from the legislature to hold hearings on freight rates for the purpose of endeavoring to accomplish a readjustment more favorable to growers and shippers of California products. A letter from the commission was read in the assembly when it convened today.

LEGISLATURE TO HASTEN ACTION ON IMPORTANT BILLS

Reapportionment and Reorganization Are First to Be Considered.

SACRAMENTO, April 18.—Working under an agreement making necessary the passage through the House before next Sunday of all proposed legislation that is to stand a chance of enactment at this session, the Legislature today began the first fortnight of its meeting. The two big problems that have not yet been brought to a definite issue in either Senate or Assembly, reapportionment of legislative districts and reorganization of the State government, are likely to be pressed to final vote first in the Upper House.

The major contest on reapportionment, some legislators believe, will center upon a motion to adopt committee amendments intended to put Senator Boggs' bill in shape for passage on Tuesday. The measure is on the Senate's second reading file and the motion may be submitted today.

Assemblymen who favor Boggs' plan are planning to obtain quick committee action on a similar bill originating in the Lower House, if it becomes apparent that the Senate will defeat the Boggs bill.

ON THIRD READING. Nine bills, embodying Governor Stephens' scheme for consolidating State agencies and reorganizing the State government are on third reading in both Houses. They will be taken up regularly for a vote in the Senate. W. J. Carr, administration leader said. If they are passed it is considered improbable that the more drastic reorganization bills proposed by the Tax Payers' Association of California will be brought from committee, although proponents of the Tax Payers' measure have been urging that the committee report them out, even with adverse recommendation, if not otherwise.

On Tuesday and Wednesday the Assembly is scheduled to vote upon soldiers' aid bills, the proposed farm home veteran aid being set for first action and the bonus bill to follow. Division of sentiment among legislators, who are former service men, on the measures promises a contest.

OTHER CONTESTS NEAR. Other measures about which hot contests are expected and which will be taken up on the Senate floor this week are Deane's bill to apply the Redlight Abatement Act processes to places where gambling is conducted, McDonald's bill providing a nine-hour working day for female domestic servants, Shearer's bill to tax motor vehicles used for hire on the highways, Scott's proposed constitutional amendment permitting round boxing bouts under a commission by the American Legion; Crowley's bill to cede State lands at Alameda for use as naval base, and Shanley's bill carrying a $500,000 appropriation for a State-wide survey of water resources.

Woman Is Freed of Embezzlement Charge

The charge of embezzlement against Mrs. Ethel Draw, 1463 Thirtieth street, was dismissed today by Police Judge Mortimer Smith. She was arrested April 12 on warrant sworn to by K. O. Mayberry, in the complaint Mayberry alleges that she purchased an automobile from him for which she paid $500 down, but refused to pay the balance of $400. The judge said because she had refused to pay the balance of the bill he could not see the reason why the woman was charged with embezzlement when she did not try to sell or dispose of the machine.

"Jackie" Coogan Is Reported Improving

NEW YORK, April 18.—"Jackie" Coogan, child moving picture star, has passed through the crucial stage and will be out of all danger in a few days, says the cheering report issued from the sick room of "The Kid" by his doctor today. His pulse is getting back to normal, the doctor stated, and he is getting some color in his cheeks. "Jackie" is suffering from acute bronchitis, which for a time threatened to develop into pneumonia.

She was alone when the accident happened. Her automobile was demolished. Mrs. Lewis' relatives live in California.

Daring Robbers Use Truck to Carry Loot

STOCKTON, April 18.—One of the most daring burglaries ever recorded here was perpetrated when an unknown gang backed a truck up to the rear of the C. C. Lucas and Lucas homes in the fashionable quarter of the city, and loaded up with clothing, furs, jewelry, silverware, antiques and many other articles of value during the absence of the families.

Police believe the robbers are members of a gang operating a store in some distant part of the state.

SAN JOSE, April 18.—Four young Chinese, including Thomas Lee of San Francisco, pardoned a few years ago by Governor Johnson after h had been sentenced to Potosi for robbery, and Jue Tong of San Jose were arrested by motorcycle patrol men last night after an exciting chase for auto bandits who had held up a Chinese store and the Narishim club at Mountain View and robbed the proprietor and club members of $100.

The "sticking up" of the Narishim club at Mountain View at a late hour last night was one of the most sensational holdups occurring in this county in years, according to statement made today by Constable

John Peterson of Mountain View who investigated the robbery and whose prompt action made the quick capture of the alleged bandits possible.

About fifteen Orientals were in the place at the time playing cards and talking with friends when three or four young Chinese with guns in their hands walked into the club and gave

While two of the men kept the crowd covered the third collected about $700. The backed out of the place, leaped into the machine which was waiting outside and started toward San Jose.

Constable Peterson was apprised quickly of the robbery and telephoned to the sheriff's office here. Sheriff Lyle reached Motorcycle P-trolemen Charles D. Reade and Warren McGruin on the San Francisco road just as a car driven by Jui Tong and containing three other young Chinese passed. They promptly gave chase. Jui Tong drove at terrific speed and refused to halt when the officers came alongside.

In this fashion the car, with the two motorcycles trailing, whizzed through Santa Clara. On the Alameda in the outskirts of San Jose the officers started firing at the machine and the driver then stopped. Two guns were found in the car together with several hundred dollars. In searching the roadside for the third gun the officers ran across the

THAT COLOMBIAN TREATY.

Senator Johnson of California has aligned himself in strong opposition to the ratification of the proposed treaty between the United States and the republic of Colombia. He seems to draw his opposition from two thoughts: one that ratification of the treaty will mean the squandering of $25,000,000, and the other that the present attitude of some senators who formerly opposed ratification of the treaty is inconsistent.

Are these two conceptions sound ones and sufficient to justify defeat of the treaty?

The idea of paying $25,000,000 to Colombia is based upon the fact that the loss of territory by that republic occasioned by the revolt of Panama is worth a monetary consideration, and that the strip of land across the isthmus acquired by the United States for the construction and administration of the Panama Canal should be paid for. The only important question is whether Panama or Colombia should get the money.

Panama has not claimed compensation for the land. Colombia has. Representatives of Colombia and the United States have negotiated a treaty fixing an amount of compensation which has only a nominal relation to the value of the land lost by Colombia through the Panama revolt. It can hardly be said with reason or regard for the facts that payment of $25,000,000 for this real estate will be squandering money, especially since it will satisfy all of the protests of the government of Colombia against title to the property.

As to inconsistency on the part of Senator Lodge and other senators who opposed the treaty when it was first submitted by President Wilson, the purposes of the treaty have been somewhat modified since it was first drafted. As originally conceived by President Wilson and Mr. Bryan, then Secretary of State, the United States was to express an official apology to the politicians at Bogota for the construction of the canal. This was correctly interpreted as an unjustified assault upon the record of President Roosevelt. It was properly resented by the Republican senators who defeated ratification of the treaty with the apology included.

In its present form the apology has been eliminated, and therefore the strongest ground for objection to the treaty has been removed.

The senators who once opposed but now are in favor of ratification have not changed their mind since the inauguration of President Harding; they changed during the administration of President Wilson and were ready to vote for ratification of the revised treaty.

Thus it would appear that the "squandering" and the "inconsistency" complaints of Senator Johnson do not constitute very impressive reasons for withholding ratification. There are certain phases, however, that make ratification of the treaty distasteful to many admirers of President Roosevelt. Recognition is given to certain Colombian contentions to rights that really have no basis in law or morals as the American citizen looks at them. But there is much to be gained in promoting Pan-American cordiality and American advantages if the long standing controversy between this country and Colombia can be settled.

Since all offensive references to the United States which Mr. Wilson and Mr. Bryant admitted to the text of the original treaty have been removed, the Senate now is disposed to view the treaty in the light of its present text and present conditions and not solely, as Senator Johnson is inclined to view it, in the light of its unsavory history. Consequently the treaty will be ratified by the Senate.

THE TARIFF BILL VOTE.

The first important project of legislation of the Sixty-seventh Congress in special session has passed the House of Representatives. It is the emergency tariff and anti-dumping bill, which got through Friday by the decisive vote of 269 to 112. There will exist for some time considerable doubt as to the actual benefits this bill will bestow upon the producers of the country between now and the time when a general tariff act can be enacted and put into effect. Inasmuch as Congress is to consider at this session the whole subject of tariff protection and the enactment of a general protective tariff law, there are many who believe that the annoyances which enforcement of the emergency law will cause will not be compensated for by the advantages. Apparently it will cause some delay to the recession in the prices of necessities of life, which President Harding said in his message last Tuesday was something to be striven for.

But the action on the emergency tariff bill is an informative indication of the attitude of the present Congress toward the President's recommendations. The tariff bill was expected to provoke more partisan opposition than any other measure, and this partisan opposition, it was expected, would be supplemented by some Republican votes cast out of the motive that emergency tariff legislation is unwise.

However, the bill carried by an overwhelming majority, by nearly 2 1/2 to 1. Only eight Republicans voted against it, and their votes were offset by fifteen Democrats who supported the measure. This first test of partisan and administration strength is a sign that Mr. Harding will have the support of a large and effective working majority in Congress in carrying out his projects.

A CURE FOR LEPROSY.

It is always proper, if not necessary, to accept reports of the discovery of cures for malignant diseases with a deal of caution. The world has been disappointed so often that it naturally is reluctant to accept without reservation claims of sure-thing remedies. Hopes have been raised many times during recent years in connection with tuberculosis and cancer, but while some valuable progress may have been achieved by the earnest men of science seeking cures for these diseases, the secret is yet withheld from them.

But with all proper caution there seems due cause for rejoicing at the reports of the treatments of leprosy with derivatives of chaulmoogra oil. Results in this field seem to be of an extraordinary character. The world was told recently of the release of 142 lepers from the isolated colony at Kalihi in Hawaii—released from bondage to return to freedom and peace.

Progress in this method of treating the world's most pitiable outcasts has been slow. The results obtained in Hawaii merely crown the efforts of scientists who have worked in different and widely separated fields for several years.

Lieutenant-Colonel Rogers of the British army medical corps and president of the Tropical Diseases Section of the Royal Society of Medicine, began his search for a cure for leprosy twenty-seven years ago, with many facilities at his disposal as professor of pathology at the medical college at Calcutta. He made the first experiments in treatments with chaulmoogra oil. While improvement was recorded the nauseating character of the oil in its original form made the administration of effective doses impracticable.

An American, Dr. Victor Heisler, head of the health department of the Philippine government during the Taft administration, achieved a very important advance when he combined the oil with other substances and injected it intramuscularly and obtained an apparent cure in eleven percent of his cases.

Further experiments resulted in combination of the essential substances of the oil with sodium solutions in such form that the application of the remedy by injection became entirely practical. This was seven years ago. Since then the important phase of the work has been one of observation of treatment and the record seems to justify the claim that a reliable and normally certain cure has been discovered. It remains yet to be seen whether there will be relapses on the part of those cured, but from the record of cases two and three years after discharge there really seems little to fear in this regard.

The results of a positive cure for leprosy can not easily be over-estimated. In the government of India alone there are 150,000 lepers. There are many other thousands in China, Japan, the Philippines, Africa, and the countries of Asia outside of India. In Hawaii and other South Sea islands this plague has claimed many victims. Once branded the life of the leper has been one of despair and hopelessness. To give him hope, the prospect of being restored to life among his fellows, is a big thing.

The American National Bank of San Francisco has made an interesting comparison to emphasize the tax burden imposed upon the people of California by the State government. The total amount taken by the tax-gatherers during the twelve-month period ended June 30, 1920, was $23,014,676. For the calendar year of 1919, the last period for which complete statistics are available the total value of the apricot, cherry, plum, fig and olive crops in California was $22,940,000. Thus the State spent the last fiscal year a little more than the entire receipts from these five great crops. Next year and the year following several additional crops will go to the spenders. And there is no effort to save on the part of the State administration.

A Scotch professor makes the prediction that a million years from now the world may be ruled by a race of biped reptiles. This is not such an amazing prophecy when one considers the large number of "snakes in the grass," "lounge lizards" and "adder-tongued vipers" that now go around in human apparel.

NOTES and COMMENT

What happened to the world because of the too deliberate peace proceedings following the war may now be happening to Mexico. As to the world war, delay in fixing peace terms produced unrest that is becoming chronic. The chronic condition may have already existed in Mexico, but delay in recognizing the new government is confirming it, and may lead to a renewal of serious eruptions. It is very seldom that a point is missed by promptness.

Harry Brodski, who was in all sorts of trouble not long ago as to hooch, is now reported to be facing charges as to hooch. He is accused in connection with doings concerning a ranch enterprise which was to produce large profits from the production of fodder and pigs, but entirely failed to do so. His field would seem to have had a diversified scope.

According to the Medford Mail-Tribune the West is not yet wholly settled: "The Stillman and Stokes divorce cases are entertaining and instructive, but no more than the McCarthy divorce case of Boise, Idaho, wherein the member of the ornate sex, the plaintiff, was laid low by a well-aimed wringer, hurled and heaved by the defendant, when requested to account for the spending of the wash money."

The Red Bluff News acknowledges a call: "The News got a whiff of Indian Summer yesterday when Pocahontas, Minnie Hawthaw and Rain-in-the-Face paid us a visit, and rehearsed some of the classical music and steps that 'caused' them to be arrested and sent to college."

A Colorado watermelon grower says he can plug a melon just before it is ripe, insert a little yeast, close up the plug hole, and the yeast will convert the sugar in the melon into alcohol to the extent of 10 per cent of the eatable portion of the melon. Whereupon the Alascadero News renews the query, "Ain't science wonderful?"

The Redding Searchlight sees signs of spring: "One of the most promising signs of spring are the motor cars from Wallawalla, the road lice from Redlands, the women in khaki pants from everywhere and the assorted junk that makes up the baggage of a household in transit."

The Red Bluff News keeps the up-state amenities going: "Redding sorrowfully reports the loss of her oldest citizen, which she can keep them from moving away she may eventually grow another one."

The San Bernardino Sun finds later particulars less cheering: "It's worse than we thought. The young man who cut 'quilt' a swath, tending to be President Harding's cousin is said to be afflicted with dementia praecox iracundia."

Former Secretary of War Baker, we are informed as a sort of foreword, is to write a book telling what he did during the war. Great luck that it doesn't need to be a big book. White paper is still very costly.

Beer drinking in Germany dropped off more than 750,000,000 gallons a year. But America beat that, observes the San Bernardino Telegram.

The Fresno Republican comes on with this: "In the old days of piracy a Spaniard could get rich on a guano. And it hasn't been long since an American could feel that way on a quart."

The Martinez Chamber of Commerce is working on a postoffice and Federal building appropriation. According to the Standard, Senator Sharkey's paper, Senator Samuel Shortridge and Congressman Charles F. Curry will co-operate in securing an appropriation. A WAY TO FILL A LIBRARY.
The city library needed more books, and had no money to buy them. The people were asked to give books, and the library officials hoped that 12,000 would be received. The last count shows 18,000 volumes, and books left at school buildings are yet to be counted. It was predicted that the library would be made a dumping ground for undesirable books, but the proportion of such books received is very low. People have given books that they think other people would like to read. A few friends of the library have given money.—Indianapolis News.

about YOUR HEALTH

A Restricted Diet and Rest the First Aids in Jaundice

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D., Commissioner of Health, New York City.

When the color of your face has turned to saffron and the "whites" of your eyes have been dyed in a deep yellow, you have the jaundice, or "icterus." On the stage you would be said to have "yellow fenders." Jaundice is an inflammation of the membrane lining of the bile ducts. As a result the yellow bile is dammed up. It is absorbed by the tissues, carried by the blood to every part of the body and stains the tissues a peculiar lemon color. The symptoms generally are not pronounced.

The most annoying is the terrible itching of the skin. This itching sometimes is so intense that the patient is tempted to tear the skin with his finger-nails.

In addition, there may be more or less disturbance of the stomach and bowels, with a slight fever and gloominess of mind. The patient feels bilious and has no appetite. There may be sickness of the stomach and even vomiting sometimes. After four or five days of stomach trouble the jaundice appears and the whole body becomes stained yellow. Absence of the normal passage of bile leaves the patient constipated, and such stools as are passed are white or the color of clay.

Sometimes, however, the patient may be pretty sick. The temperature may be high or the heart action may be depressed. The patient may be low in spirits, and examination may reveal a tenderness over the liver. The discolorations of the skin may persist for several weeks.

When it is apparent that you have jaundice cut out of your diet all fats, sugars and starches. A restricted diet is best. Milk, eggs, broths and lean meats are satisfactory. Drink plenty of lemonade and alkaline waters. You should go to bed and keep quiet. Hot water compresses over the liver may promote comfort.

For the itching of the skin hypodermic of soda may be tried. A tablespoonful to a pint of water, and used as a wash, may give much relief.

Your family doctor will prescribe remedies with a view to restoring normal action to the bile ducts.

This describes simple jaundice of the so-called "catarrhal type." Jaundice is also a symptom of various more or less serious conditions. It is observed in cancer and other diseases of the liver, in yellow fever, in malaria and a few other conditions. After the attack subsides there should be a careful examination by your physician to make sure that the trouble was really a simple one and not due to causes of a more serious nature.

another week of the Pacific Coast League season goes into the record books. The San Francisco Seals leading the procession in the league leaders and the Oakland club in the past week, so much the fault of the local club that the Sacramento aren't out in front. True, the Oaks looked awfully bad in their three games with the leaders, but in the last three they threw their opponents to a standstill and managed to cop two of them. And with any of the breaks swinging their way in the contest before the largest crowd to view a game at Recreation, the Oaks would have got a fifty-fifty break on the series. Coyotes would be in front. But what counts most in a 1 d. these days is what a team has and not what it may

BULLETS ROUT SEVEN BANDITS WHO RAID CAFE

Owner Prevents Robbery of Cash Register by Firing a Fusillade At Thieves.

Bleeding profusely from a blow in the face inflicted by one of seven bandits who last night entered his place of business, Ferdinand Schultz, proprietor of the Iroquois cafe, Eleventh street and Broadway, rushed to the front of the establishment and secured his revolver, and, after firing a fusillade at the holdup men, drove them from the building and into the street. Pursued by Schultz, who fired at them from almost point blank range, the bandits ran from his cafe to Eleventh street and through the arcade of the Bacon building to Twelfth street, where they were lost in the crowds of Sunday evening strollers.

Police have been unable to locate any of the bandit gang. The cafe was filled with diners at the time of the shooting.

The attempted holdup occurred at about 9:30 o'clock last night, with almost every table in the restaurant filled.

BANDITS RETREAT WHEN FIRED ON
Pushing their way through the door and brushing roughly against the tables of several patrons, the seven men entered the establishment and walked to where the cash register was located. Schultz, who was sitting at a nearby table, arose and ordered the men to leave.

Instead of complying with the proprietor's order, one of the men struck Schultz in the face, knocking him to the floor. The proprietor bled freely from a cut opened in his face by brass knuckles worn by the bandit. He staggered to his feet and made his way to the front of the cafe, pursued by two of the holdup men. Schultz secured his pistol from a drawer beneath the counter and, turning, fired at the seven men. At the sound of the first shot, the bandits ceased their efforts to open the cash register and ran for the door.

SHOTS FIRED AS HOLDUP MEN FLEE
Firing his revolver, Schultz followed the men into Eleventh street, where they turned into the Bacon arcade and ran toward Twelfth street.

Apparently none of the shots took effect, for the bandits succeeded in making their getaway by mingling with the crowds on Twelfth street. Hundreds of persons who thronged the downtown streets heard the shots and rushed to the scene, and it required the efforts of several patrolmen to disperse the crowds.

Police today are searching for the seven men. According to Schultz, he was unable to secure an accurate description of them. He said he did not believe the bandits were armed.

Otis Skinner Coming to U. C. to Witness Production of "Kismet" by College Cast

Offering to Be Most Pretentious Ever Attempted by U. of C. Students.

BERKELEY, April 18.—An open-air production of "Kismet" in the University of California has such an appeal to Otis Skinner that he will leave Los Angeles and the movies in order to witness the student performance next Wednesday evening. Skinner starred in the Arabian play for several seasons on the legitimate stage, and later gained fame in a moving picture version.

The college production has been advertised as the largest offering ever attempted in the Greek theater. Two hundred students have been cost for the play. All of the stars of college plays of the past two years are included in the cast.

The plans for the great student production have aroused the curiosity of the actor who originally played the role of Harl. As a result Skinner will come to Berkeley to see the play.

Cast in leading roles of the college play will be the Misses Kathryn Prather, Marie Louise Myers and Eva Erndway, all well known in college dramatics while Miss Eileen Eyre, talented Alameda girl, will be seen in solo dances.

High School Elects New Administration
The administration of the University high school today completed its reorganization activities with the election of those commissioners who will conduct the institution's affairs for the balance of the term.

Ralph Phillips was the sole hold-over from the former administration. He was president and under the new form of government, becomes automatically the commissioner of administration of public affairs, one of the chief executive offices of the new administration.

The other officers elected include: Horace Smith, chief justice; Edna Cobbleck, social affairs; Eleanor Burke, girls affairs; Hugh Flindley, finance; Robert Young, publicity; Margaret Rowe, special events; Alvin Kyte, boys sports; and Walter Turner, junior high affairs. All the officers except Turner are high seniors.

OAKLAND HOTEL OWNERS WILL FETE EASTERN VISITORS

"Seeing America First" Party Entertained at Del Monte Yesterday.

Following the arrival yesterday of the party of Eastern hotel men who are "seeing America first" in the precincts of Northern California by way of Del Monte, Oakland hotel men today are planning to make their stay in Oakland tomorrow one of the most interesting of the entire coast-to-coast trip.

The party of Eastern hotel proprietors and managers spent yesterday in Del Monte and were fêted by the Northern California Hotel Association entertainment committee. Other Oaklanders who greeted the easterners yesterday included Henry Barker, proprietor of the Key Route Inn, and S. C. Williams, proprietor of the Hotel Sutter.

DUE IN S. F. AT 5 P. M.
Today the visitors are coming up by automobile from Del Monte, stopping at the Paul Masson ranch in the Santa Cruz mountains. They are to arrive in San Francisco at 5 p. m.

Tomorrow is Oakland day on their itinerary. They will come to Oakland at 11 o'clock by automobile from San Francisco and will be guests of the Hotel Oakland at a luncheon, after which they will be taken on an automobile tour of the Eastbay district, including the residential section, the University of California campus, the industrial districts and the Skyline boulevard.

They return to San Francisco in the evening for a banquet tendered at Tat's downtown cafe, given in honor of James Woods, former manager of the Palace hotel and now manager of the Hotel Belmont, New York City, who is a leading member of the party.

All of Wednesday will be spent in San Francisco, the program including lunch with the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, an afternoon of golf at the Lakeside Golf Club and a banquet in the evening at the Olympic Club. On Thursday morning at 11 a. m. the hotel men leave for Salt Lake City.

Jurgens of Oakland made the address of welcome and acted as toastmaster at the barbecue held in Del Monte yesterday. A program of Spanish songs and dances by special entertainers was provided by Carl Stanley, proprietor of Hotel Del Monte. The Del Monte affair was largely attended by San Francisco hotel men and others, who went down by automobile to give an advance greeting to the easterners.

BOY SUSPECT TO BE TRIED FOR WOMAN'S DEATH

John Baker, Confessed Slayer of Mrs. Turner, Violates Parole and Steals.

John H. Baker, 19-year-old self-confessed murderer of Mrs. Emily Turner at a lonely ranch on the old Fish road, Berkeley, on August 30, 1917, according to police, who was arrested in Ogden for stealing automobiles after he had violated his parole from the Alameda County juvenile detention home, will on trial before Superior Judge Church tomorrow morning. Baker is charged with murder.

The state's chief witness against the youth, started to District Attorney Ezra W. Decoto, will be James Fee, 18 years, with whom Baker is alleged to have committed the crime.

In the preliminary court hearing Baker's most recent arrest and return to Oakland before Police Judge Mortimer Smith, who told the youth to answer before the Superior court, details of the manner in which both boys choked and smothered Mrs. Turner to death while she lay in her bed at her ranch in the Claremont hills, caused an evening.

How the aged woman shrieked, "For God's sake, don't kill me! Oh, you are murdering me!" was told by Fee, who recited in detail how the murder was plotted by himself and Baker and carried into execution before daybreak and by the light of a coal oil lamp. Further details of how young Baker, then 15 years old, was taken to the body of the woman to the bottom of an abandoned well, how it slipped while halfway down and he let the body tumble to the bottom, was told by Fee.

It is expected that he will report this story on the witness stand during the present trial. Because of the extreme youth of the boy murderers at the time of the killing the authorities suspended charges of homicide, committed them to the jurisdiction of the juvenile authorities, and they were released on probation.

Four months ago Baker became involved in the theft of an automobile in Ogden, and he was returned to Oakland where the authorities immediately set in motion the machinery of the law to bring him to account for his previous conduct.

The police, it is learned, have secured a full confession from Baker. According to Deputy District Attorney John U. Calkins, after choking and beating Mrs. Turner to death, while she pleaded for her life.

Nets, Rats, Rolls Tabooed in School Girls' Coiffure

HERE is reform with a vengeance! War has been declared on hair nets, rats and rolls!

Fremont High School harbors the newest group of revolutionists. No girl who decorates her coiffure with any of the aforementioned articles is eligible to membership.

Nets, rats and rolls are nuisances declare the young women, and set forth to prove their point in practical demonstration.

The netless, ratless, roll-less society has come to stay until reform is wrought.

Among its members are Muriel Kilgo, Lois Jacobs, Florence Farrell, Marguerite Stokes and others.

Life Baker, despite his youth, showed no signs of remorse and told the police that "she was only an old lady" that she was about to die anyway and that it didn't make any difference. Baker said he hated the woman because she had accused him of stealing. He admitted that he planned to sell her seven cows for money enough to leave the country.

Examination of the youth by Dr. Jau Don Ball and other attendants revealed that he was sane, and he was finally sent to Ione by Judge Stanley Smith. Because of good behavior he was paroled in August of 1920.

INDUSTRY IS THE BEST GUARANTEE of the permanence and prosperity of a community, a state or a nation. It means creation of wealth, profitable employment, and free flow of capital in trade.

Many factors aid in industrial development, but of all factors, population and power are indispensable. Population furnishes the labor supply and the immediate local markets, but population alone is not enough. In modern times, no great industrial structure can exist without power.

The possession of raw materials, while not essential, is nevertheless a great stimulus to the development of manufactures. All the nations of Europe are densely populated, and the World War disclosed the great importance that these nations attached to power and raw materials, particularly the sources of power to be found in oil and coal.

California has in the last ten years made a great gain in population. In addition it possesses most of the basic raw materials for manufacture. They may be roughly classified as lumber and forest products, agricultural products, fisheries, and mines and minerals including petroleum.

The third thing needed for unrestricted industrial development in California is Power. California has no coal supply of good quality. The old days of forty cent oil are gone. The only sound solution for her power needs lies in the development of hydro-electric power.

There is no cheaper power available than hydro-electric power and the time has come when the oil industry, already overburdened, must find relief or suffer a more alarmingly rapid exhaustion. If the development of water power which is abundant and inexhaustible can proceed unhindered it will supply the growing needs of industry and be the impulse for a wonderful economic growth in the State, from which will come further great gains in population and wealth.

The power companies of the State are fully alive to the needs for power. Their combined construction programs contemplate the development of about two million horse-power in the next ten years, which is more than twice the total power thus far developed. They only ask an intelligent spirit of co-operation on the part of the public in order that these plans holding so much of promise for the future of California may be carried out.
